VETERANS DAY HOLIDAY!

November 11 will be a "holiday" for LBCC staff and students...during the daytime. All evening Adult Education and Evening College classes will be held as usual.

A NAME FOR THE SANDWICH SHOP....and the 28th is the deadline! You're each invited to enter the contest to name the sandwich shop and win free sandwiches & potato salad for the remainder of the term. See Jay Brooks. (ANNOUNCEMENT! They now have donuts for your morning coffee!)

NEW FACES IN THE OFFICE OF STUDENT PERSONNEL SERVICES: Jan Strombeck is Dean Archibald's new secretary, and Nancy Yocum is the new Records Clerk. Jan comes to LBCC from OSU employment, where her husband, Greg, works with the Division of Vocational Education. The Strombeck's have a 2 1/2 year old son. Nancy (who is single, by the way), was previously a secretary for the engineering department at Wah Chang. Welcome aboard!

WORK STUDY TIME SHEETS are due before the first of the month. Supervisors should be sure there are no cross-overs and that all proper signatures are affixed.

JIM BRICK IS NOT IN THE HOSPITAL! Those of you planning to send flowers or visit Jim this evening (re. Staff Column, Oct. 26 edition of The Commuter) will be pleased to learn that he is neither in traction nor inactivated. In fact, he and John Mack are actively planning a very special Art Show that will feature a wide variety of artistic talents of art instructors from Oregon's Community Colleges...opening Mon. at LBCC

COLLEGE CENTER NEWS Very soon the official "open hour" at the center will be 7 a.m. Bob Miller reports that the center has nearly reached full operation and that the policies and procedures for use of the meeting rooms, etc., are being formulated and will be released soon.

LBCC PRESS RELEASE FORMS are returning to this office at a rapid pace. Your cooperation is greatly appreciated, and this information will be invaluable. Very soon we hope to engage a photographer and ask each of you to further assist by "posing" for a portrait at your convenience. More on that later.
