

Using Google Scholar with the LBCC Library

Google Scholar is a free tool to search for scholarly (peer-reviewed) articles and books. Google Scholar does not provide full text access, but you can use it to access free full text in the library and elsewhere on the web with the instructions below.

Access Google Scholar

Go to scholar.google.com

Set Up Library Links

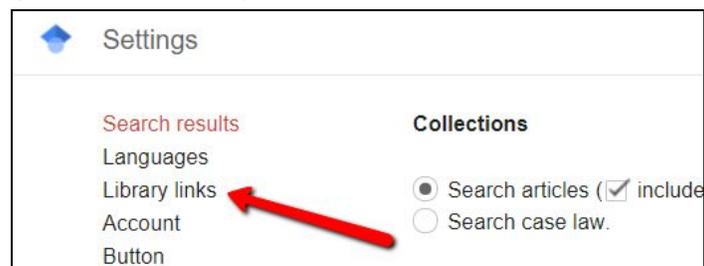

1. From Google Scholar's main page, click on the three lines in the upper lefthand corner.

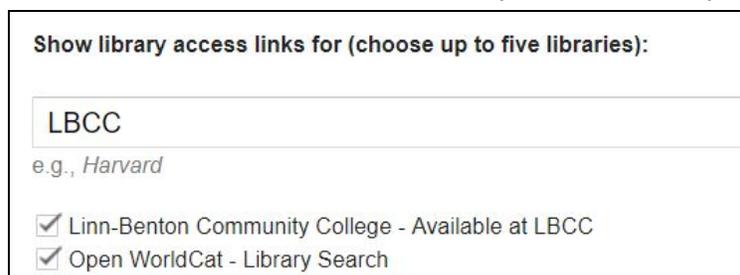

2. On the menu that slides out, click on Settings, or the Settings wheel.

3. On the Settings page, click on Library Links.

4. From Library Links, make sure Linn-Benton Community College-Available at LBCC is selected. If it's not, search for LBCC and select it. Add any other libraries you belong to.

5. Click Save to keep these options. Check these settings for each device you use, especially when you're off campus.

Search Google Scholar

Once you've set up up Library Links and returned to the main search page, do a search. You can try a few important words if you're looking for relevant information on a topic. If you're looking for a specific article, you can also search for part of the title and the author(s)' last name.

Pro tip! If you're searching for a phrase, try putting it in quotation marks to make Google Scholar keep the words next to one another in a specific order. For example, "United States," "music education," "medical marijuana," "one child policy."

Get Free Full Text of Articles

1. In the results, look for links to any free full text to the side of the article title.

international adoption

2,930,000 results (0.04 sec)

My profile

International Adoption Project: Population-based surveillance of parents who adopted children internationally

Madsen, NJ Madsen, MR Gunnar... - Maternal and child ..., 2008 - Springer

To conduct the first population-based surveillance in the United States of

[HTML] nih.gov Available at LBCC

2. If an article you want doesn't have linked full text, you can still request it through interlibrary loan: <https://library.linnbenton.edu/ill>

Get Books Listed in Google Scholar

Most books in Google Scholar results will not be available through free links. Copy the title of any book you want and search for it at the LBCC Library homepage and through any other libraries you belong to. You can also interlibrary loan books.

[BOOK] International adoption: Global inequalities and the circulation of children

L Briggs - 2009 - books.google.com

In the past two decades, transnational adoption has exploded in scope and significance, growing up along increasingly globalized economic relations and the development and improvement of reproductive technologies. A complex and understudied system,

☆ Cited by 109 Related articles All 3 versions