1967-1992: LBCC Celebrates 25 Years of Offering Quality Educational Choices to Community

The idea of colleges to fill the gap between high schools and universities was recognized as early as 1947. At that time a statement released by the President's Commission on Higher Education for American Democracy stated, "if the country were to fulfill its role as the world's leading advocate for democracy, the nation must provide increased educational opportunity at the post-secondary level." The times were ripe, too. World War II had just ended, and many servicemen were returning home, ready to use their GI Bill to get an education.

The community college system has continued to grow rapidly since the war, and as people's needs changed, so did the community colleges. Today, most community colleges are comprehensive educational institutions. They offer vocational/technical degrees and certificates; two-year transfer programs; developmental education programs for people who need help with basic reading, writing and math skills; and continuing education programs for people who do not plan to pursue a degree but want to upgrade their job skills or enrich their lives with classes of their choice.

In order to serve such diverse needs, however, the community college must provide accessible education at low cost within the area it serves. This was the goal 25 years ago with the creation of Linn-Benton Community College.

1960: Legislature sets aside money for community colleges

The door for having a community college in the mid-Willamette Valley was opened in 1960. That year, the Oregon legislature passed a bill to set aside money for development of community colleges throughout the state. By 1963, the Linn County Chamber of Commerce and community leaders in Benton County were exploring the possibility.

Local college boosters commission study

In 1964, that group commissioned the Bureau of Education Research in the School of Education at the LBCC Presidents, past and present; Dr. Eldon Shaffer 1967 - 70, Dr. Ray Needham 1970 - 81, Dr. Thomas Gonzales 1981 and Dr. O. Robert Adams, who twice served as interim President.

University of Oregon to do a study to see if a need existed for a community college in the Linn-Benton area. The basic recommendation of that report was that "a community college facility for the Linn-Benton area is needed, is feasible and should be established."

The Bureau cited, among others, the following factors that warranted creation of a community college in the two counties: "the rising cost of education, the inability of many students to meet university requirements...the rising demand for trained labor and the lack of any vocational training in the area."

To meet the post-high school education needs of the area, the Bureau went on to recommend four areas of instruction: vocational-technical preparation, adult education, lower division college transfer and general education.

Linn and Benton County voters approved forming college district

The report got the ball rolling and on Dec. 6, 1966, the Linn-Benton Education District was formed. The newly elected Board of Education held its first meeting on Dec. 20, 1966, at the Ratskellar Restaurant on Pacific Blvd. in Albany (now the Hereford Steer Restaurant). That first board included Dan L. Ashton, Sweet Home - Zone I; Russell W. Tripp, Albany - Zone II; Ken J. Purdy, Scio - Zone III; Glen Huston, Lebanon - Zone IV; Robert I. Hadland, Shedd - Zone V; and Herbert Hammond and Loren J. Smith, both of Corvallis - Zones VI and VII.

In the spring of 1967 another election approved the college's first budget. Dr. Eldon Schafer was appointed LBCC's first president, and on Sept. 25, 1967, a limited evening class schedule began.

Former dean and current board member recalls early days

Dr. O. Robert "Bob" Adams, the college's first dean of instruction and now an elected member of the LBCC Board of Education, remembers those first days.

He started at LBCC in 1968 when the college went from evening to full-time operation. He said that the big challenge was finding a place to conduct all the classes. The first move was to rent space in the old Capital Business College on First Street in downtown Albany. The college needed more space, so LBCC bought out the business college, including the office equipment needed to teach students in business and secretarial courses. LBCC used the business college building for three years.

The college also expanded into the second floor of Albany's First Baptist Church and later rented modular units, which were placed on property at Albany's city swimming pool, Adams said. These units were later moved to the present site of the main campus. Other classroom space was rented in district high schools, where most of the adult education classes were held. Specifically, Adams remembers an auto shop in Lebanon and a welding shop in downtown Albany. When the Environmental Protection Agency became interested in training people in water/wastewater management, the college set up that program in an old photo lab, also in downtown Albany.

IMPORTANT:

Please read this information before planning your schedule of classes or registering.

All LBCC credit classes, except Adult High School Diploma, whether lower-division transfer or vocational/technical non-transfer, are taught as college-level courses.

Courses with letter prefixes apply toward LBCC degrees and certificates. Vocational/technical courses are numbered 1.000 through 8.999. These courses generally are not transferable to a four-year college or university. There are some exceptions to this rule, however. Students should see an advisor concerning the transferability of vocational/technical courses.

Courses with 100 and 200 numbers are college-transfer courses. Courses with numbers between 100 and 199 are considered freshman-level courses, and those numbered 200-299 are considered sophomore-level courses.

Courses with decimal points in them and courses with numbers below 100 are not college transfer courses. For example OA 2.530 or MTH 20 probably would not be accepted by a four-year institution.

Some programs require specific courses for satisfying some of the General Education Requirements. Be sure to see your advisor to make sure the courses you select meet the requirements of your program.

General Education Requirements for Associate Degrees

Students should refer to the current LBCC Catalog, "General Education Requirements" section, for information about courses that fulfill General Education Requirements.

Generally, classes that offer a total of five (5) hours of lecture and five (5) hours of individual hands-on experience on the computer (or at least one credit hour) will apply toward the Computer Competency requirement. For a list of these classes, contact the Academic Affairs Office, room 101, College Center, or the Admission Office, room 115, Takena Hall.

A complete list of classes that will fulfill the Perspectives requirement for the Associate of Science degree is available from the Academic Affairs Office, Counseling Center and Division/Department offices.

All students are encouraged to meet with their advisor or a counselor when planning their schedules and for assistance in determining which courses fulfill specific requirements.

Alcohol- and Drug-free Program

In compliance with Public Law 101-226, Linn-Benton Community College maintains an Alcohol- and Drug-Free Program to inform students and staff of the risks and penalties associated with the use of alcohol and other drugs. To maintain a drug-free workplace, the college established an Alcohol and Drug Awareness program for students and staff. A pamphlet covering LBCC Drug and Alcohol policies is distributed to staff. The policies also are published in the Schedule of Classes (see p. 92) and the college catalog. Anyone wanting additional information should contact the Associate Dean of Student Services or the LBCC Human Resources Office, 6500 SW Pacific Blvd., Albany, OR 97321-3779.

Non-Discrimination Policy

Linn-Benton Community College maintains a policy of non-discrimination and equal opportunity in employment and admissions without regard to sex, race, color, creed, national antecedents, handicap, economic need or age. Questions or concerns related to affirmative action, non-discrimination or equal opportunity should be directed to the Human Resources Office, College Center - room 108, Linn-Benton Community College, 6500 SW Pacific Blvd., Albany, OR 97321-3779. Telephone: 967-6502.

How to Read the Class Listings

At the top of each page in the sections where classes are listed (Vocational/Technical/College Transfer and Extended Learning) are headings to identify the information you need about each class. An explanation of what each heading means is provided here to help you use the schedule and to register.

Course # indicates the specific course number by which a class is identified. Courses with letter prefixes apply toward LBCC degree and certificate programs. Courses without alphabetical prefixes, such as 0.123 and 9.123, do not apply toward LBCC degrees and certificates. College transfer courses have 100 and 200 numbers. Courses with numbers lower than 100 are not transferable.

Courses numbered between 1.000 and 8.999 are vocational/technical courses and generally will not transfer to four-year colleges and universities. There are some exceptions to this rule. Students should see an advisor concerning the transferability of vocational-technical courses.

Sec. # stands for section number. Some classes are offered several times each term. The section number identifies the specific course and when it meets.

CRN stands for course reference number. This is an identifying number for each course and is used in registering and for other procedures.

Credits indicates the number of credits given for the course.

Grade indicates the grading options.

Day(s) indicates the day or days of the week the class meets. The key for days of the week is at the bottom of each page of class listings. TBA indicates "to be arranged."

Time indicates the starting and ending time of each class. Classes that begin at 5 p.m. or after are considered night classes and are indicated with a gray shading in the Vocation/Technical/College Transfer section

Part Term stands for Part of Term. The Part of Term code (either a number or a letter) is important to know for last day to register, refund and withdrawal dates, and when selecting Pass/No Pass.

Start Date indicates the day the class begins.

of Wks indicates the number of weeks the class meets.

Building/Room indicates the building and room number where the class meets. Class location keys are provided for each section of the schedule.

Footnote(s) indicates special requirements and/or supplemental class information. See footnotes listed on this page.

Telephone registrations are not accepted for classes that have footnotes "I," "K" and/or "T" These classes are marked with this symbol ✳.

Registration Information

This schedule of classes is for selection of Spring Term classes only. To choose a program of study (curriculum), students should use the college catalog and consult with their advisor or counselor.

Students registering for 12 or more credits or receiving financial aid must be admitted to the college. Others may register without being admitted. A Social Security number is required for positive identification of records. An identification number may be requested from the Registration Office for students not possessing a Social Security number.

Registration forms are available in the Registration lobby in Takena Hall and at all LBCC Extended Learning centers. Using this Schedule of Classes, please fully complete your form. Be sure to check the list posted in the Registration lobby and at all the centers for filled, cancelled or changed classes. Take the completed form to the Registration counter or to the center where you will be taking the class.

You must pay your tuition the same day you register. Pay your tuition at the Business Affairs Office, first floor of the College Center. Extended Learning Centers: Pay at the center when you register.

An Installment Payment Plan is available. Please see the Tuition information on page 14. If for some reason any portion of the payment is invalidated, such as a non-sufficient-funds check, the student's registration may be cancelled.

Part-time Students

Part-time students can call the Telephone Registration number (926-0664) during the Telephone Registration time period and use their VISA, MasterCard or prearranged Purchase Order for payment.

Faculty Advisors

Faculty advisors and division chairpersons are not available during break weeks. Students needing instructor and/or division approval should secure it prior to those times.

Attendance doesn't equal enrollment

Students who have not officially enrolled in compliance with the dates appearing in the Class Schedule will not receive credit nor will they be given any special consideration for registering in a class merely because they have been attending unofficially.

Academic Information

Adding or Dropping Classes

To add or drop a class, a Schedule Change Form must be presented at the Registration Office or one of the Extended Learning Center offices and any additional tuition paid. Adding classes after the first week requires the instructor's written permission. When a class is dropped within the refund period, 95 percent of the tuition may be transferred to another class. Tuition paid for classes dropped after the refund period cannot be credited toward another class. See the Last Day to Drop For a Refund on the Part of Term table (page 11) of this schedule.

Students who stop attending without giving written notice to the Registration Office within the refund period will forfeit all claims to refunds and will be responsible for their grade in the class and for any installment payment commitment. See refund section for specific refund dates and amount.

Advising

Personal assistance in planning a schedule of classes is available to all students, whether part time or full time, through the Student Advising Program. Newly admitted students will be assigned by their major course of study. Advisors and their office numbers are listed, according to major, on the inside back cover of this schedule. Contact the Counseling Center in Tadena Hall with any questions.

Auditing Classes

Students may enroll as auditors on a space-available basis after the first day of the class. Audit must be declared at the time of original registration. Once declared, audit may not be removed for any reason. Charges for auditing are the same as for regular credit enrollment. Students must submit an "Audit Request Form" to the Registration Office at the time of registration. Audit status cannot be granted at a later time.

The final grade assigned a student with audit status shall be based solely on classroom attendance and may be entered as an AU or a Y at the discretion of the instructor. The instructor has the right to require 100 percent attendance when audit status is requested.

Cancelled Classes

Classes may be cancelled due to low enrollment. Tuition paid for a cancelled class may be transferred to another class (subject to space availability and instructor approval requirements) or will be refunded.

Credit by Examination

Presently enrolled students (6 or more credits) who believe they have mastered the material presented in courses listed on the Linn-Benton Community College Course Challenge List may apply for Credit by Examination. For further information, please request an outline of Credit by Examination procedures and a Course Challenge List from the Student Assessment Center in Takena Hall.

Financial Aid

Grants, loans and scholarships may be available for those wanting to attend college but who cannot afford the cost. New or continuing students taking six or more credit hours may qualify for financial assistance, which then can be applied to tuition, books, supplies and/or living expenses. Because the application process can take from four to ten weeks, those interested are urged to apply for aid as early as possible. Applications will be mailed upon request. They are available at the Financial Aid Office in Takena Hall, room T-119, phone 967-6104, between 8 am - 5 pm.

Individual evening appointments are available on request. Students receiving financial aid must have completed the admission process, whether full time or part time.

Overload Credits

Students registering for more than 20 credits in a term must have the written approval of a counselor.

Pass/No Pass Grading

Certain courses listed in the schedule have an "OPT" designation in the "Grade" column. Students in these classes have the option of taking the course for the usual letter grade or taking it on a pass/no pass basis. Students in these courses may submit a P/NP Option Form to the Registrar's Office by the appropriate date listed in the Part of Term table (p. 11). Courses listed in the schedule with "P/NP" in the Grade column are those where only pass or no pass grades are issued.

Note: The maximum number of "P" credits allowed toward an LBCC degree will be 16 credits, not including those with mandatory P/NP grading. Students are advised to consult with their advisor or a counselor before deciding to choose the P/NP option.

It is the student's responsibility to check the Class Schedule to determine whether or not a class has the pass/no-pass option. Requests submitted in A-F classes will not convert grades to P/NP.

Refunds

To receive a refund, a signed Drop Form must be received in the Registration Office or one of the Extended Learning Center offices within the refund period shown in the Part of Term table (p. 11). Refunds for part-time students are 95 percent of tuition. Refunds for full-time students who drop below 12 credits are the difference in tuition less 5 percent of each dropped credit class. Lab fees are refunded upon request of the instructor only.

Classes cancelled by the college are refunded at 100 percent or the tuition is transferred to another class if the student so requests.

If a class is dropped after the refund deadline, the tuition is not refundable. Students who stop attending without giving written notice to the Registration Office within the refund period forfeit all claims to a refund and are responsible for their grade in class and for any installment payment commitment.

Tuition & Fees

Full payment of tuition is required at the time of registration. Students whose tuition is to be paid by a special program, agency or financial aid award must confirm the credit with the Cashier the same day as registering. The Cashier is located in the Business Affairs Office, first floor of the College Center.

Tuition reduction for the unemployed is for part-time students who are receiving unemployment insurance compensation or who are available and seeking work. These students may qualify for a 50 percent tuition reduction for two classes with a maximum of 8 credits. The tuition reduction applies to credit classes only. Ask for an Unemployment Tuition Reduction form at the Registration Office or at LBCC's Extended Learning centers. Before registering, see waiver form for limitations.

The Golden Age Program provides opportunity for people 62 years of age or older to participate in college classes for one-half tuition. The discount does not apply to material or lab fees.

The fee for an official transcript copy — $2 per copy including first copy, and $1 per each additional copy if ordered and sent at the same time. Student copy — $.50 per copy. Transcript orders require up to 72 hours for processing.

Tuition Payment

In order to validate the registration transaction at LBCC, students must pay the assessed tuition and fees or confirm with the Cashier in the Business Affairs Office, first floor of the College Center, on the day they register that a credit has been previously arranged by a special program, agency or financial aid award.

An Installment Payment Plan is available to all LBCC students registering for more than three credits. A down payment equivalent to three credit hours, plus a $7 installment fee, is required at the time of registration. This service is available at the Business Affairs Office. If for some reason any portion of the payment is invalidated, such as a non-sufficient-funds check, the student's registration may be cancelled.

Veterans' Benefits

Students receiving benefits under the GI Bill, Veterans' Vocational Rehabilitation or as a veteran's dependent must start the necessary paperwork themselves each term in order to receive their benefits. Assistance is available in the Office of Veterans' Affairs (at the Financial Aid Office) in Takena Hall. Call the Financial Aid and Veterans Office at 967-6104 for additional information.

Withdrawal from School

Students who cannot attend classes should officially withdraw from school. The last day to officially withdraw from school Spring Term 1992 is shown in the Part of Term table (p. 11). Students who withdraw and expect a refund of tuition must comply with the dates listed in the column headed "Last Day to Drop for a Refund."

Student Insurance Coverage

Occasionally students will incur injuries or loss of property while participating in Linn-Benton Community College classes or activities. Tuition and fees paid to LBCC do not include medical/dental/disability or theft insurance.

As a service to LBCC students, the college makes available an insurance program in which students may elect to participate. Information can be obtained from the Registration Office in Takena Hall.

For a few classes, arrangements have been made in advance for workers' compensation coverage. This is not automatic and requires prior arrangement with the Business Affairs Office. LBCC also furnishes a limited secondary medical plan for athletes in varsity programs. Both workers' compensation and athlete insurance programs are very specific in applications covering relatively few students.

Registered students at Linn-Benton Community College are not covered by health insurance, accident insurance or by workers' compensation insurance. Further, the college does not provide insurance coverage for tools or personal property that students may lose to theft or may be damaged by vandalism.

Student Programs

The college encourages activities that complement a student's academic program. The Associated Students of LBCC organization provides opportunities for students to serve on college committees, participate in student government and earn credit for participating in leadership activities that enhance student life. Co-curricular clubs and activities available to students include areas such as journalism, welding, engineering, wastewater technology, nursing, animal technology, drama, music, intercollegiate athletics, dental assisting, DECA, culinary arts, graphics arts, diesel, data processing, horticulture, racing performance and business management. Extra-curricular activities include Ski Club, International Students, Native American Students, religious affiliations, dances, lunchtime entertainment and intramural sports.

The female student population at LBCC is a diverse group. Their goals vary. Some are earning GED's, some are in vocational-technical training programs and others are planning to transfer to a four-year college or university. Final Exams Schedule

Linn-Benton Community College classes will not be held on the main campus or through the Community Education centers if the college is closed because of bad weather, hazardous driving conditions or other emergency conditions. Please listen to your local radio station for closure announcements. College officials will call the stations before 6:30 a.m. if the college is going to be closed that day. Also, if the college is going to be closed, an announcement will be available by calling LBCC's switchboard, 928-2361. If you get a busy signal, keep trying. The busy signal means that someone else is listening to the recording.

The final exam schedule is based on the first day of the week a class meets. That is, if you have a class that meets Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday at 9 a.m., you would look in the final exam schedule under Monday, Wednesday, Friday at 9 a.m. Your final exam would be 10 a.m. - noon on Monday of final week. Highlights

Spend Some Time in the Learning Center

Many LBCC students find it helpful to spend some time in the Learning Center. The center is a relaxed, open-study area where equipment, such as computers and video players; resources, including dictionaries, math tapes and variety of helpful handouts; and assistance from people who know math and writing, are available all day every day plus Tuesday and Thursdays evenings until 9.

More specifically, students in Math 20, 60, 65 and 95 do much of their work and take all of their tests in the Learning Center. Students in other classes may take make-up tests in the center. One-to-one tutoring also is available. Students who need a tutor or who want to become a tutor, can stop by the Tutor Desk anytime during regular center hours.

The center also offers a special type of short-term course called a "mini." These mini-classes can help students make higher grades, be more efficient in reading their textbooks and decrease test anxiety. Mini-classes can be added any time during the term, and students work at their own pace to complete them.

The center also has a Writing Desk where instructional assistants can help students with their writing problems, whether it's a paper for a composition class or for an economics class.

The Learning Center is located on the second floor of the Learning Resource Building. Stop by and see what the friendly staff can do for you.

Volunteer Tutors Needed

The Literacy program helps people learn to read and to write. Because the program is reaching more and more people, the need for volunteer tutors is increasing. As a result, LBCC is looking for area residents who would be interested in tutoring people who have limited educational and/or English language backgrounds.

Volunteer tutors help with reading, math and other basic skills so that these people can function more readily in school and in the community. A time commitment of two to four hours per week for a school term is requested. If you would like more information, please call Don Rea, Volunteer Tutor Coordinator, in the Student Development Department, 967-8836.

Graphic Communications Program Adds Advanced Macintosh Course

As has happened in so many fields, advances in computer technology have brought about significant changes in the way graphic designers do their work. To help LBCC Graphic Communications students keep up with the hardware and software for graphic design applications, a new Advanced Designer Macintosh class is being offered for the first time spring term. The course provides a review of hardware and software used in the beginning course and moves to advanced drawing programs, charts and graphs, bulletin boards, modems, scanners, drawing pads, other hardware and software applications and the use of service bureaus.

For more information about the Graphic Communications program, call the Liberal Arts Division, 928-2361, ext. 225.

TV TELECOURSES TV

Telecourses are genuine college courses. They enable students to earn college credit at home and are an alternative to attending classes on the LBCC campus. While much of the course content is televised, the majority of information is contained in text and workbook materials specially designed for the telecourses. Classes are televised over Oregon Public Broadcasting (channel 7) and on TCI Cable in Albany and Corvallis (channels 14 and 31). Programs are usually viewed once or twice during the week and total one hour in length. For students who own VHS video recorders (VCRs), the complete telecourse is available at no charge on two VHS tapes from the LBCC Library. Enrolled students may check out the tapes for the entire term. Registration procedures are the same as for regular LBCC courses. A $15 telecourse fee, in addition to regular tuition, is due at the time of registration. Attending the first class meeting, listed in the schedule, is important because it serves as the student orientation session. On-campus attendance is required three or four times for review and testing. For more information, call Paul Snyder in the Media Services Center, 928-2361, ext. 332.

MATH LAB

The Benton Center Math Lab offers self-study classes. You may begin a self-study class in the Math Lab any time during the school year. Just come in, set up your own schedule and then work at your own pace with instructors available for guidance and help. Partial credit is given for variable credit classes; however, credits not completed during the current term must be purchased again and should be completed the next term. Instructor permission must be given to register for less than full credit. Students registered in LBCC lecture classes also may use the Benton Center Math Lab for help with the classes listed below. Math Lab Orientation Meetings: If you have never taken a class in the Math Lab before, try to come to an orientation on MONDAY, MARCH 30, at 12:30 p.m. or 6:45 p.m., or TUESDAY, MARCH 31, at 6:45 p.m. We will try to answer all your questions about what math courses to take and what the Math Lab has to offer you. If you are unable to come to one of these meetings, come to the lab anytime we are open for an individual orientation.

Highlights

Free Series Focuses on Going Back to School

A free six-week Brown Bag series on Going Back to School is offered noon - 12:50 p.m. on Wednesdays at the Lebanon Downtown Center.

The series focuses on an overview of LBCC programs, services and degree requirements.

The series also covers the skills needed to promote college success. Topics include April 15 - Course of Study, April 22 - Financial Aid, April 29 - College Success, May 6 - Study Skills, May 13 - Time Management for Students and May 20 - Balancing School and Family. Bring your lunch and enjoy one or all of these helpful, informative seminars.

Late-Night Aerobics

Finally, an exercise class at a time that won't conflict with your other activities. For working parents who have taken care of fixing dinner; helping, supervising and participating in their children's homework; attending social and school activities; and are up late anyway -- this class is for you! Join Gail Walter at this non-traditional time and do something just for yourself. See the Physical Education section of the Lebanon Center class listings for the time, place and other information about this new class created for our busy friends.

Sharing

Have you ever shown someone how to do something? Have you ever shared a story or talked about a special event? Well, you may be a "closet" instructor. Lebanon Center Director Al Barrios invites you to join him in a free two-session workshop as he shares with you the skills needed for you to share your special hobbies and interests with others in our area. For church, community or self-enrichment -- or any other reason for sharing -- this class teaches you how to get started, present ideas and succeed in your teaching endeavors.

Strawberry Festival Events: Student Art Exhibit

The art students and instructors of our various classes will be featured in an art exhibit during the first week of June. More than 60 talented people will share their works and skills through presentations and demonstrations during Strawberry Festival Week. While the location and times will be announced later, mark your calendar as a reminder to join us at the art exhibit.

New Computer Classes Combine Lecture/Hands-On Experience

We understand that people have different learning styles. For that reason, the Lebanon center has added a third method of instruction for our Computer Software Application classes. In addition to our successful Business Technology Lab and our Microcomputer Self-Study Lab, we now are offering lecture/hands-on classes in Introduction to Macintosh, Microcomputers: An Introduction, Introduction to MS-DOS and Windows. We also offer many self-paced, self-study classes that allow you to learn at your own pace. Check the Computer section of the Lebanon Center listings for more classes.

Spring Means New Opportunities

Spring is a wonderful time to undertake new learning projects, whether to increase your current job skills, learn new ones or to provide personal satisfaction. This spring, consider charting a new course in your artistic, educational or professional development. Seek personal growth and challenges in human relations or learn a new language. Maybe you would like to improve your writing or communication skills, learn how to use a computer or get in shape and feel better about yourself. We offer you a variety of opportunities through the Sweet Home Center. Just look through the Sweet Home Center section of this Schedule of Classes. If you have questions or need help, contact Joanne Fitzgerald, Mary Sue Reynolds, Anne McGinley or Mary Brendle at 367-6901. We'll be happy to talk to you.

New Classes

Help!! Which Computer Class Should I Take?

The majority of the computer classes offered at the Sweet Home Center are for beginning students who have never used a computer or who are unfamiliar with the software programs offered at the center. Word Processing: WordPerfect is a beginning course on IBM-compatible computers. You learn to create and edit documents in these classes. Quattro Pro 3.0 is a beginning class on using the computer to chart financial applications. Introduction to MS-DOS teaches you the basic functions of the disk operating system. You learn to manage files, disk drives and peripherals from the keyboard. Microcomputers: An Introduction is another good class for beginners. You get hands-on experience while learning to operate the computers and use the software that is available at the Sweet Home Center. Before you take any of these beginning classes, we encourage you to take the free Introduction to Computers Mini-session that is held before the term begins. All of these classes are held in the Computer Lab at the Sweet Home Center. You also can purchase open lab hours to use the lab when classes aren't being held. LBCC computer students who are enrolled in computer classes other LBCC centers or on the main campus can use the lab at no additional cost.

25 Years of Quality Choices

College experiences growing pains

To relieve the college's growing pains, district voters passed a bond measure in February 1970 to construct a new campus. Adams said the location of the new campus became a subject of competition between the cities of Albany and Lebanon. He said each city knew the campus would be an economic asset to whichever city had it within its urban boundaries.

The Albany site won when the Albany Chamber of Commerce donated the 104-acre site, and it was determined that utility hookups would be less expensive than at the Lebanon site.

During the construction, college classes were held in modular buildings located on what is now the south parking lot of the main campus. By the fall of 1973, the college had moved into the new buildings. At that same time, in modular units at Corvallis High School, the

This early aerial photo shows the partially constructed LBCC main campus. In the middle of the background, you can see the seats in the yet-to-be-constructed Forum Building, which was originally used for LBCC theater and musical productions before the opening of Tadena Hall.

Benton Center was established in Corvallis and the East Linn Center was established in Lebanon. More than 4,000 students were enrolled in at least one class that year.

Now, the college has centers in Lebanon, Corvallis and Sweet Home, and the Albany Center, located on the main campus, serves the continuing education needs of people in the Albany area. More than 27,000 people take at least one class through LBCC each year or a full-time equivalency of about 4,500 people, making LBCC the fifth largest community college in Oregon.

Four presidents have served the college in its 25-year history: Dr. Eldon Shaffer 1967 - 70, Dr. Ray Needham 1970 - 81, Dr. Thomas Gonzales 1981 - 89, and current President Jon Carnahan, appointed in 1989. Dr. Adams also served twice as interim president during his years at the college.

More local high school students choosing LBCC

Carnahan has been at the college since 1973. He was appointed director of admissions and registrar in 1973

When the college was first built, the College Center area was designed as a main entrance to the campus. A fountain, brick walkway and landscaping provided a more inviting entrance than this early photo shows. With the addition of Takena Hall in 1979, the "front" door of the college moved from Pacific Blvd./Hwy 99 to the Allen Lane side of the campus.

and served in that capacity until 1982, when he was appointed director of student services. He was vice president for instruction from 1985 until 1989, when he was appointed president.

Over the years, Carnahan has noticed a changing perception about community colleges among graduating high school seniors. He said these students are seeing community colleges as a first choice, as places of quality educational opportunities.

For example, 31.4 percent of the area's 1991 high school graduates enrolled at LBCC in fall 1992. This is an 8 percent increase over 1990. The overall figures show 33.1 percent of all 1991 Linn County high school graduates enrolled at LBCC this year compared to 25.3 percent last year; in Benton County, the figures are 28.4 percent compared to 23.5 percent. Five-years ago only 13.7 percent of district high school graduates enrolled at LBCC.

"The college is proud to have offered quality choices to area residents for the past 25 years," Carnahan said. "The enrollment numbers clearly indicate that LBCC is a first-choice solution in the lives of our students."

Students visit in the courtyard while Takena Hall is being constructed behind them. The small magnolia trees in the foreground now reach the top of the second level of the buildings surrounding the courtyard.

Retraining at LBCC Leads to Job With A Future

Former Lebanon resident Terry Tiessen says that without Linn-Benton Community College, he wouldn't have been able to go back to school and retrain for a good job.

After working in local plywood mills for most of his adult life, Tiessen says that he 'saw the handwriting' on the wall.

"I worked at two mills that shut down and eight months after I left, the last mill where I worked shut down, too. I was lucky in that I was able to seek retraining when I did. Otherwise, I probably would have had to take a job that wouldn't pay anything or have gone anywhere."

Now an Albany resident, Tiessen says that he really didn't know what he wanted to do. Nothing really sounded interesting to him until his vocational counselor mentioned metallurgy to him. "I decided to learn more about it and talked to Seaton (Seaton McLennan, instructor for the LBCC Metallurgy program).

"He really got me enthused because he is so enthusiastic about his program. The individual attention from all the instructors is a big plus at LBCC. You can talk to an instructor every day if you need to. I enjoyed my time at LBCC; it is more friendly, more personal than at a four-year college."

Tiessen started working at Hewlett Packard in Corvallis right after he graduated in June 1991. He also had job offers from two firms in Portland and one in Redmond. "I had worked at Hewlett Packard for a few months three or four years ago, through a temporary service. I really liked the company and the people I worked with so I was very happy to work there again."

As a process operator working with semiconductor wafers for computers, Tiessen said one adjustment he has had to make is wearing the full particle control gear, including gown, goggles, hat, rubber gloves and booties. "It's like going into surgery. You get really warm at first...and you end up putting it on about four times, including breaks and lunch. At first, it took me about four or five minutes to put everything on, but you get more experienced. Now I think it takes me about 30 seconds."

Tiessen's wife Michele is a Nursing student at LBCC and received her cap during a ceremony in January. They have two daughters Breyanna, 4, and Kylee, 3. Michele would like to work in a pediatrics ward or at a children's hospital after earning her associate degree and passing the nursing exams. "She is even considering medical school to become a doctor when the girls are older," Terry said.

Vocational Access Program Provides Special Opportunities

Adaptations in Teaching/Learning Methods Help Student Succeed in Auto Technology

by Jan Krabbe

Neal Trahan of Albany entered the Vocational Access Program in fall 1988, after being referred by his Oregon Vocational Rehabilitation counselor and the Learning Specialist at South Albany High School.

Because of a severe learning disability in the academic areas of reading and writing, traditional school work was difficult for Neal. After enrolling in the Automotive Technology program that fall, Neal proved he could be successful because he received appropriate adaptations for his learning disability.

That first term, his instructor pointed out that Neal was often the first in the class to diagnose an automotive problem. He learned quickly and remembered the material covered, a fact proved by his earning 12 credits of "B."

During his two years at LBCC, Neal's most difficult course was the Auto Tune-Up class because it required reading extensive shop manuals, but even in that class, Neal earned 10 credits of "C" and managed an overall GPA at the end of six terms of 2.59 out of a possible 4.0 for straight A's.

Because Neal took only courses in the automotive area, except for a First Responder class, he did not earn an associate degree but he was awarded a special certificate of successful completion during the 1990 graduation.

The First Responder class is for fire fighters, quick response teams and law enforcement personnel who may be first on the scene of life-threatening accident or other emergency. The course was important to Neal because he is a member of the Crabtree volunteer fire department.

Since he left LBCC, Neal has worked as a mechanic at Randy Jones Chevrolet and at the GMC shop in Woodburn, where he is currently employed.

Hearing Impairment Doesn't Hold Back Sweet Home Man

by Jan Krabbe

Thirty-eight-year-old Mike Mowder first took classes at LBCC in the fall of 1987, when he was referred by his Oregon Vocational Rehabilitation counselor. Mike has a hearing impairment, which he says has always interfered with his learning.

He was interested in entering the Refrigeration, Heating and Air Conditioning (RHAC) program, but he needed to improve his basic academic skills. Mike first enrolled in Adult Basic Education (ABE) classes at the Sweet Home Center, then switched to the Albany campus winter term of that year, enrolling in the ABE Language Arts class.

Mike experienced some difficulties in those classes and was considering dropping out. Fortunately, the college started the Vocational Access Program about this time (fall of 1988), and Mike entered the RHAC program that term. Mike earned a grade point average of 2.5 (4.0 equals straight A's) for 10 credit hours, all of them in his industrial program. The following two terms, he was on the LBCC honor roll, completing 15 credit hours winter term and 20 credit hours spring term. In addition to his classes, he worked as a work study student in RHAC. By the end of spring term 1990, Mike completed all requirements for a two-year degree except for Writing 121 English Composition. He has the option of completing that one course to receive his associate degree.

Since leaving LBCC, Mike has worked as an RHAC service technician and installer in Sweet Home, where he lives with his wife and family.

Mike exemplifies one of the primary goals for LBCC: providing learning opportunities to the greatest number of people with the fewest restrictions, based on individual and community needs. Because of the Vocational Access Program, Mike was able to demonstrate his ability to learn and to succeed. His self-esteem, as well as his economic condition, improved as he met with success in school and in the world of work.

Vocational Access Program

Initially funded through a federal grant, the Vocational Access Program has been so successful that LBCC has continued funding, at a reduced level, even after the federal grant expired.

The program helps area residents who have mild to moderate learning disabilities successfully participate in vocational/technical programs offered at the college. A sampling of successful job placements include janitorial, culinary arts, retail food markets, preschool care, grounds maintenance, dishwashing, food preparation, automotive technology, bakery helper, office assistant, and refrigeration, heating and air conditioning service and installation.

The staff in the Vocational Access Program help coordinate the student's educational program, provide tutors for vocational courses, provide note-takers for classes, help with test accommodations, supply supplementary study material and offer courses in personal development.

Students in the program have the same opportunity as all students to earn an associate degree, but many opt to concentrate on their vocational area. Students completing the vocational program requirements are awarded a certificate of completion showing their area of instruction.

They are encouraged to participate in extracurricular activities within the college. At first, many of the students were reluctant to do so, but by the end of the first three years of the program, 67 percent were participating in a variety of extracurricular activities.

The Vocational Access Program enables students previously excluded from post-secondary training to gain training and skills that allow them to enter the job market. For some, their first academic success was achieved at the college level. Many are able to apply for jobs that pay more than the minimum wage, not only enabling them to have a higher standard of living, but a higher level of self-esteem.

LBCC NURSING STUDENTS CONTINUE OUTSTANDING PERFORMANCE

Associate degree nursing students in Oregon had the highest passing rate among community colleges on the National Council Licensure Examination for Registered Nurses (NCLEX-RN) in 1991. Oregon's rate was 97.2 percent for associate degree nursing students while Wyoming was second at 97.0 percent. When the scores for both associate degree and bachelor degree students were considered, the reverse was true: Oregon (96.3 percent) was second to Wyoming (97.5).

Linn-Benton Community College has been a leader among Oregon community college nursing programs, graduating its first class in 1971. Since 1983, the overall passing rate by graduates of the LBCC Nursing program is 100 percent pass, with 324 students passing on the first attempt (97.8 percent) and the remaining 13 students passing the second time.

The LBCC Associate Degree Nursing program is accredited by the National League for Nursing, the official national accrediting agency for nursing education.

OREGON COMMUNITY COLLEGES THIRD IN NATION IN TELECOURSE ENROLLMENT

Recently released statistics from the National Public Broadcasting Services shows that Oregon community colleges are third in the nation in total telecourse enrollment from 1981 through 1991. Oregon enrolled its 113,971 student spring term 1991. The highest enrollments were in California with 164,430 and in Texas with 157,992 students. Maryland formerly held third place with 113,058 students.

On a per capita enrollment basis, Oregon community colleges have the distinction of ranking first in enrollment for almost all of the 10 years that records have been kept. Linn-Benton Community College contributed more than 7,750 student enrollments to the Oregon total.

In the last 10 years, 1.7 million students have enrolled in telecourse programs at U.S. community colleges. The typical telecourse student is between 25 and 40 years of age, has family responsibilities and holds either a full- or part-time job. According to the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, this group, comprised of working adults, at-home mothers and other adult learners, is growing faster than any other segment of the American population.

Members of the Oregon Community College Telecommunications Consortium realized that they would be registering their 100,000 student last spring, according to Paul Snyder, media specialist, but they didn't get out an official statement. "When you're so busy blazing new trail, you sometimes forget to put up the signposts," Snyder said.

One of the things he personally gets most excited about is seeing how many students take their first college class as a telecourse through LBCC.

Telecourses offered at LBCC spring term include Learn to Read; GED Test Preparation; Introduction to Business; Principles of Management; Medical Terminology I; Medical Terminology II; Personal Health, which has been revised and updated; General Sociology, being offered for only the second term; and Growing Years, a child development course.

Alcohol- and Drug-Free Program In Place at Linn-Benton

As one part of its Alcohol- and Drug-free (Workplace/School) Program, Linn-Benton Community College recently published a pamphlet to inform students and staff about the health risks of using drugs and to outline counseling and treatment resources available in the area. The pamphlet, which is repeated here, includes standards of conduct required of students and staff, a description of the health risks associated with using illicit drugs and abusing alcohol plus an overview of the applicable local, state and federal legal sanctions for the unlawful possession, use or distribution of illicit drugs and alcohol. Anyone wanting additional information should contact LBCC's Human Resources Office, 967-6502.

I. INTRODUCTION

Linn-Benton Community College is legally required and morally committed to the prevention of illicit drug use and the abuse of alcohol by both students and employees. Drug and alcohol abuse is a significant public health problem which has spread throughout our society, affecting performance and productivity, as well as our level of general health. In addition, the use of drugs can adversely affect an organization's level of safety as well as its public confidence and trust. And lastly, with reference to "The Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act Amendment of 1989 (Public Law 101-226),"

"...no institution of higher education shall be eligible to receive funds or any other form of financial assistance under any Federal program, including participation in any federally funded or guaranteed student loan program, unless it certifies to the Secretary that it has adopted and has implemented a program to prevent the use of illicit drugs and the abuse of alcohol by students and employees..."

In brief, this section has been developed by LBCC to comply with the recently enacted federal law and to educate and inform its students and employees of the health risks, counseling and treatment resources, and sanctions for noncompliance. Linn-Benton will biennially review this program to determine its effectiveness and implement changes if needed and to ensure that the sanctions required are consistently enforced.

II. STANDARDS OF CONDUCT

The LBCC Student Rights, Freedoms, Responsibilities & Due Process document (page 11, number 7) defines the following behaviors as violations of the standards of student conduct: "use, possession, or distribution on campus of alcoholic beverages, narcotics, or dangerous drugs as described by the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, except as expressly permitted by law."

EMPLOYEES

In compliance with the Drug-Free Workplace Act of 1988 and the Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act Amendment of 1989 (Public Law 101-226), it shall be the policy of Linn-Benton Community College to maintain an alcohol and drug-free workplace for all employees of the District. The unlawful manufacture, distribution, dispensation, possession or use of alcohol or a controlled substance, except by physician's prescription, is strictly prohibited in the workplace(s) of the Linn-Benton Community College District.

III. A DESCRIPTION OF THE HEALTH RISKS ASSOCIATED WITH THE USE OF ILLICIT DRUGS AND THE ABUSE OF ALCOHOL

ILLICIT DRUGS:

Marijuana is addictive and can cause: impaired short-term memory, visual tracking, heart rate, slowed reaction time/poor coordination, lung disease and damage to reproductive functions

Cocaine and Crack are highly addictive and may cause: impaired judgment, short attention span, irritability, depression, mood swings, malnutrition, severe weight loss and liver damage, seizures, coma, seizure and heart attack

PCP, LSD, Heroin, Mescaline and Morphine have a wide variety of negative health effects which may include: hallucinations, mental confusion and/or permanent loss of mental function, addiction, convulsions, coma, death

Prescription Drugs are too often used to reduce stress and are not safe unless they are taken as prescribed. If abused, they can lead to: malnutrition, sluggishness or hyperactivity, impaired reflexes, addiction and brain damage, coma and death

ALCOHOL:

Alcohol is the most commonly abused drug and can cause: loss of concentration, poor judgment and coordination, impaired memory, drowsiness and mood swings, liver damage/cirrhosis of the liver, high blood pressure and heart attack, pancreatitis, various cancers, heart disease

Delivery of less than five grams or possession of less than one ounce of marijuana is a violation. HB 2479 established mandatory evaluation, education and treatment services for those under 18 years of age. If services are successfully completed, the charge will be dropped. Oregon has strong new laws allowing cars, boats, etc. that transport illegal drugs to be seized and forfeited.

Alcohol is an illegal drug for those under 21 years of age. For drivers under 18 ANY detectable amount of alcohol (above .00 BAC) is grounds for losing their license until they are 18. There are many more laws pertaining to alcohol and other drugs. This is a sample to demonstrate that most drugs are VERY illegal, and a criminal conviction may bar a student from their chosen career path or an employee from successful employment with the college.

V. LBCC SANCTIONS

Sanctions which may be imposed on students for violations of the code include: disciplinary probation (a verbal or written warning by the college president or other administrator), temporary exclusion (removal for the duration of a class period), suspension (exclusion from classes, privileges, or activities for a specified period), expulsion (termination of student status).

EMPLOYEES

The college will impose sanctions or require satisfactory completion of a drug abuse assistance or rehabilitation program. Sanctions imposed may include disciplinary probation (the suspension of a more severe penalty for a specific time period, based upon good behavior), suspension (the temporary barring from employment for a specific time period, without pay), and/or termination (the severance of employment with the college).
