COURSE DESCRIPTION: This survey course covers the basic elements of public health and the complex ethical and political issues central to it. The class is open to undergraduate students of all majors who want to know more about the field of public health, what it is, how it is organized, and how it works.

COURSE CONTENT: The course provides a basic overview of current local, national, and global trends in both communicable and noncommunicable disease; the behavioral, social, and environmental determinants of population health, with a focus on causes of disparities in population health status; the organization of public health activities and their relation to other health-related activities (e.g., clinical care, emergency preparedness); analytical methods and the science of public health; the ethical challenges facing public health action; and emerging challenges for the field of public health. The course may be presented on campus as a "hybrid" course (i.e., with a mix of in person and online sessions) or as an entirely online course.

OUTCOMES: At the completion of this course with a C or better, students should be able to:

1. Identify the multifaceted determinants of disease in population health.
2. Identify the components of evidence based public health and apply them in a variety of public health situations.
3. Identify the fundamental roles of public health and how those roles are exhibited in public health organizations, funding, workforce, and regulations.
4. Identify (discuss) the roles of public health in addressing health disparities and the needs of vulnerable populations.
5. Identify one or more occupations within the public health realm and describe the education/ credentialing process to enter that field.

TEXT: This class will not have a textbook to buy. We will utilize websites, online articles and a summary packet written by Kristi Murphey. These things will all be available through the Moodle course shell and organized week by week. Section 1 of the summary packet corresponds to week 1 in moodle and the week 1 quiz, etc.

GRADING: Grades will be based on scores from:

- 1) Forum Discussions: About 10-20 pts each. Discussions done online after watching a video, evaluating a website or reading a case study. Original Forum posts are due Friday and Peer replies are due Sunday. You will not be able to see the posts of other students until 30 minutes after you have submitted your post. All posts and replies must be turned in on time for full credit. Late original posts can be submitted up to one week late but there will be a points deduction and no points for peer interactions. More than 7 days late = no credit.

Information to consider for online "forum" posts-
Guidelines for a productive and effective online classroom:

The discussion board is the student's space to interact with other students related to current topics or responses to student's statements.

It's expected that each student will:

- participate in a mature and respectful fashion.
- Participate actively in the discussions, having completed the assignments and thought about each topic.
- Pay close attention to what classmates write in their online comments. Ask clarifying questions, when appropriate. These questions are meant to probe and shed new light, not to minimize or devalue comments.
- Think through and re-read comments before posting them.
- Assume the best of others in the class and expect the best from them.
- Value the diversity of the class. Recognize and value the experiences, abilities, and knowledge each person brings to class.
- Disagree with ideas but, do not make personal attacks. Do not demean or embarrass others. Do not make sexist, racist, or homophobic, comments.
- Be open to be challenged or confronted on your ideas or biases.

In an academic community, students, faculty, and staff each have responsibility for maintaining an appropriate learning environment, whether online or in the classroom. Students, faculty, and staff have the responsibility to treat each other with understanding, dignity and respect. Disruption of teaching, administration, research, and other institutional activities is prohibited by Oregon Administrative Rule 5760 01500015 and is subject to sanctions under The Student Code of Conduct.

All of your online communications need to be composed with fairness, honesty and tact. Spelling and grammar are important in an online communication. What you put into an online communication reflects on your level of professionalism.

Here are a couple of references that discuss-

a) writing'online:'<http://owl.english.purdue.edu/> or <http://www.powa.org/>

b) "netiquette:" <http://www.albion.com/netiquette/corerules.html>

2) Assignments: Weekly assignments may include papers, presentations or case studies. (anywhere from 10-30 points each). All assignments or labs must be turned in on time for full credit. Late assignments will lose credit. More than 7 days late = no credit.

3) Chapter Review Quizzes: Short online Moodle quizzes. (5-15 points each) The quizzes are open reading and there is no time limit but, the quiz must be completed before the cut off time on Sunday night. A quiz will not be reopened after it closes so quizzes should be attempted early (in case there are technology issues that warrant consideration and potential reset of the quiz). One quiz can be removed at the end of the term if you miss it or score poorly.

Grading Policy

All assignments must be turned in on time for full credit. Assignments more than 7 days late will not be graded. Late assignments are worth about 80% of the points. Quizzes must be completed during the open date range. Once a quiz is closed it will not be reopened. Technology problems will not excuse late work unless the issue is system wide. It is recommended online work be attempted early so problems can be resolved before the cut off times.

Grades will be a simple weighted mean (percentage of total points):

Assigned grades may include A – F letter grades (this is the default grade), Pass/ No Pass- (if the student requests that option) or an "I" (incomplete) grade.

A-F grades will be assigned as follows:

A=90-100%,

B = 80-89%,

C = 70-79%,

D = 60-69%,

Less than 60% is a Failing grade.

The "I" grade may be assigned at the instructor's discretion when: the student has completed 75% or more of the work in the course but is unable to finish the remaining work due to circumstances beyond the control of the student. An incomplete is not used to avoid a failing grade. A contract between the student and instructor must be signed to use this option.

For individuals who change grading to Pass/No Pass, a "P" grade can be issued for those individuals who earn at least 70% of the possible points for the class.
